

Fiber Optic Cable Relay Project Cost

Overview

Home and business fiber optics projects typically range from a few hundred to several thousand dollars, depending on run length, fiber type, and labor needs. The main cost drivers are materials, installation time, and environmental factors that affect trenching, conduit, and terminations. Single-mode fiber costs less per foot than multimode fiber, but it requires more. Fiber optic network projects for industrial and oil and gas applications typically cost $15,000-50,000 per mile for aerial installation and $30,000-80,000 per mile for direct burial. Budgeting requires accounting for design, permitting, materials, labor, splicing, testing, and a 15-20% contingency. The FOA created its Online Reference Guide to provide a more up-to-date and unbiased reference for those seeking information on cabling and fiber optic technology, components, applications and installation. Please note that network costs can have significant variance, even greater than the cost ranges shown. The costs included. The Fiber Broadband Association has partnered with Cartesian to research the cost of deploying fiber and provide insight on how these costs are evolving over time.
